ABOUT DATATAG

Formed in the early 1990's as a subsidiary of Mitsui of Japan, one of the world's largest trading companies with a turnover in excess of $150 billion, Datatag was originally designed to combat motorcycle theft.

Now privately owned, Datatag has spent the last few years building on the success of its motorcycle products and now offers a range of security marking systems for other markets, including ATVs, Personal Watercraft, Bicycles, Equine, Marine, Caravan & Motorhomes, Trailers, Construction Equipment, Agricultural Equipment, Home Property and other valuables.

Datatag's secure database of marked assets provides 24/7 access to police forces from around the world giving them immediate access to the information they need in the fight against crime. Datatag also support the police with training input and technology to enable them to use Datatag's forensic technologies to their fullest extent.

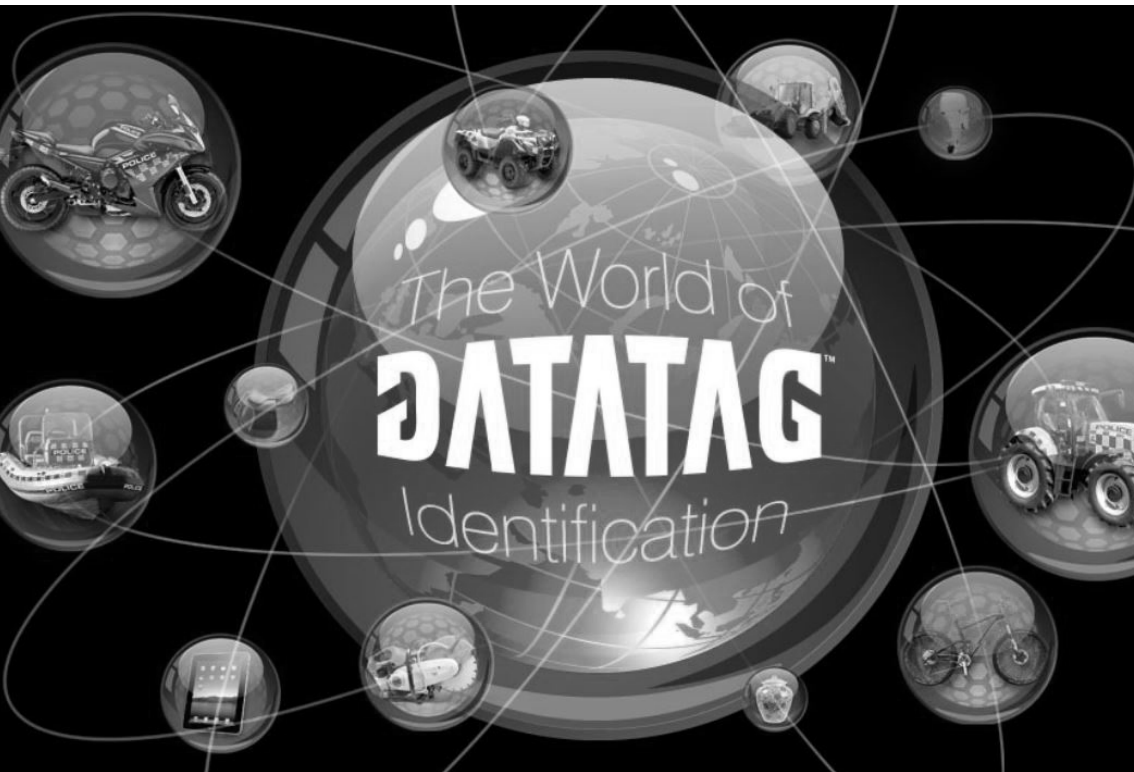

The Art of Identification - Like all of the best inventions and ideas, the concept of Datatag is simple; give your precious things a unique identity to prove that it belongs to you. Criminals prefer to steal property where there is no unique identifier, or where they can easily remove or change the original manufacturer's identification numbers or marks. Tampering with these important identification numbers makes the stolen property less likely to be identified and hinders the police in tracing the real owner. Ultimately, if the police can't prove ownership, they can't prove its stolen.

Datatag changes this; their systems can include literally thousands of unique identification marks or tags which can be permanently hidden within your property. A thief now has the impossible task of removing every single identification mark without damaging the stolen property to avoid the risk of detection. Compared to a Police Officer only needs to locate and identify one or two of the marks to assist with a prosecution.

Datatag has made a major impact on reducing theft and the Crown Prosecution Service has a 100% successful prosecution rate when evidence has been supplied by Datatag. Their award winning systems are used not only to deter theft but increasingly they are being used as a valuable asset tracing systems.

To find out more about Datatag and how our state of the art security marking technology can help you protect the precious things in your life, why not visit datatag.co.uk

C&C policy holders can benefit from 20% discount on Datatag systems to protect their valuables. Use code C&CInsurance21 on the Datatag shop to make the most of this offer datatag.shop

LEADING JEWELLERY AND WATCH VALUERS

We are widely recognised throughout the insurance industry as the leading jewellery and watch valuers in the UK. The development of in-house bespoke software has enabled us to create a totally fresh and dynamic approach to Valuations.

We provide an accessible, flexible, confidential and professional service. Our expertise includes jewellery, watches, artworks, handbags and collectibles.

We have developed a method where Valuations can now be done ONLINE (provided you have the necessary certification) in four simple steps. Take control of your health with convenient, private health assessments to compliment your existing PMI plan

We've teamed up with Bluecrest Wellness to offer C&C customers a health assessment that's all about prevention rather than the cure. It can work alongside your existing PMI plan and help you be proactive in taking control of your own health.

Bluecrest Wellness deliver health assessments – so you can get a body MOT. That means you get to understand what's going on inside your body and you don't have to wait for health issues to arise before addressing them.

There are different tests that are suitable for different people, and you can pick the health assessment package that suits your needs best.

Bluecrest Wellness tests can check things like your liver and kidney function, your thyroid, cholesterol, glucose, iron and protein levels, stroke risk and more. There are no invasive procedures – you will remain fully clothed throughout (although you will need to remove your shoes and socks).

We know people are really busy, and one of the great things about Bluecrest Wellness is that they run their mobile clinics from 10,000 comfortable, accessible locations like local hotels, where it's easy to park, and easy to fit your health assessment into a normal day. There's no waiting rooms and no hanging around. You'll also receive a full written report within 21 days.
